

Austrian System of Legal Information

by Helga Stoeger and Friedrich Lachmayer

Paris, 27 May, 2004

RIS Rechtsinformationssystem

Austrian System of Legal Information

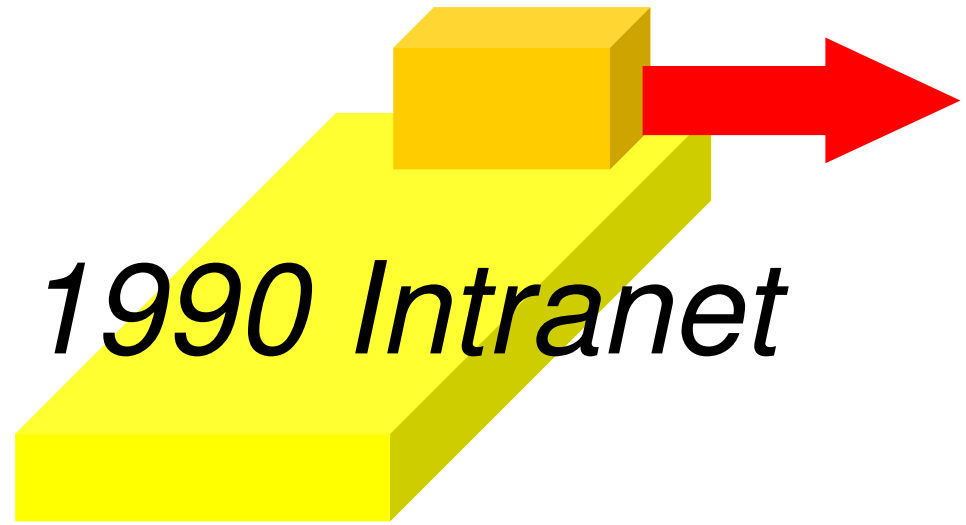

www.ris.bka.gv.at

RIS Rechtsinformationssystem

Austrian System of Legal Information

since 1990 Intranet

since 1997 Internet

Content:

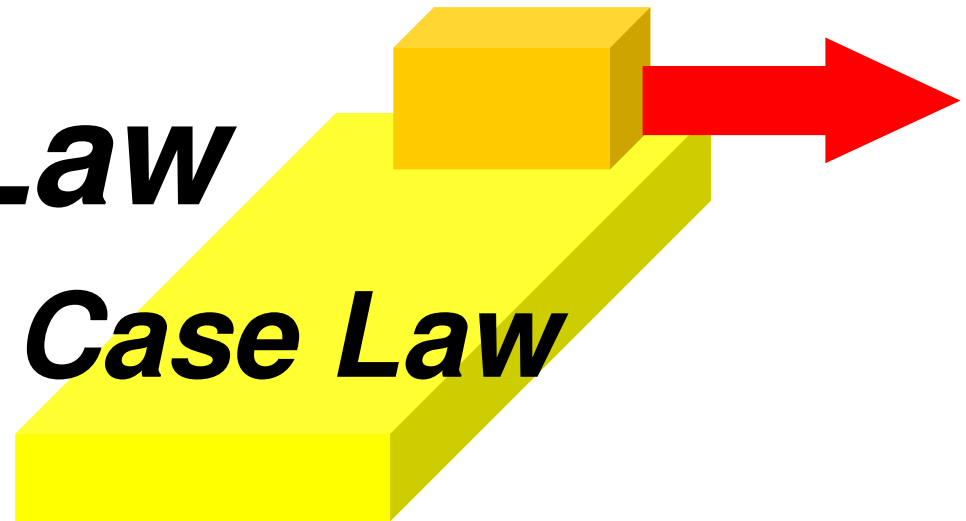

Federal Law

Federal Case Law

Regional Law

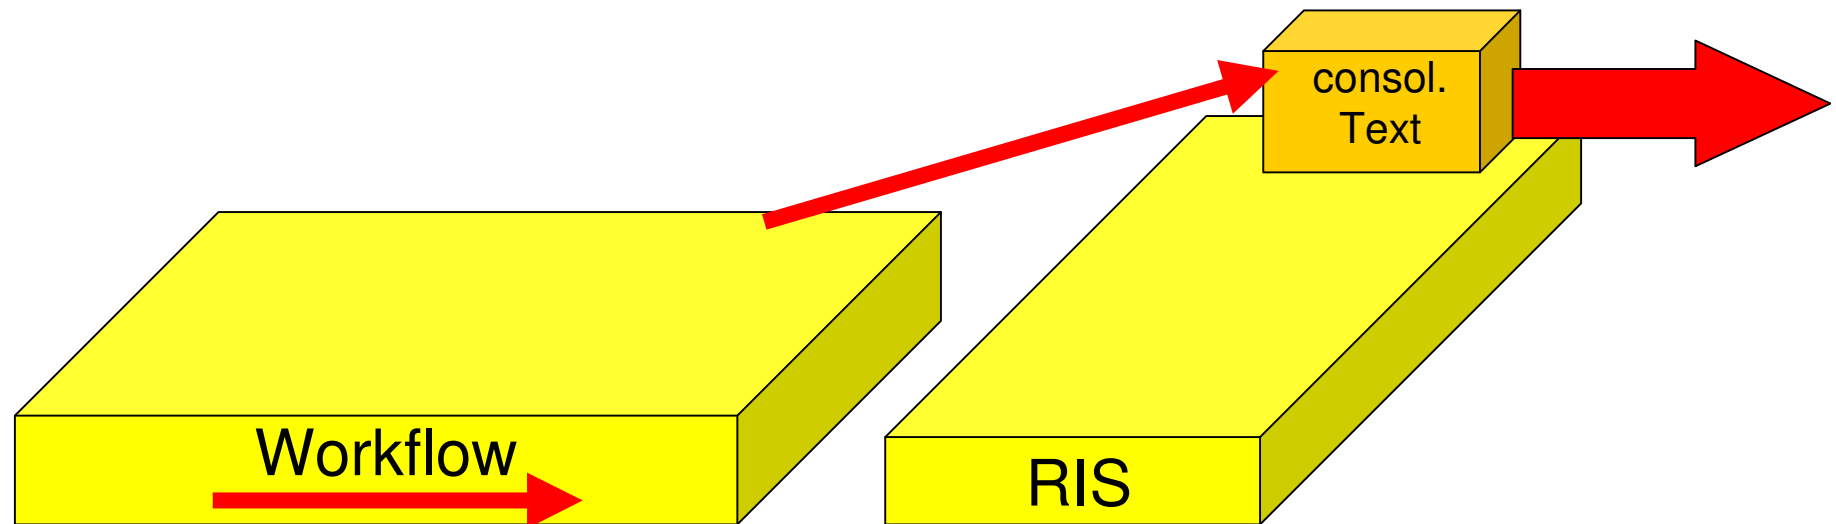

Regional Case Law

Local Law

brake-through in document-handling

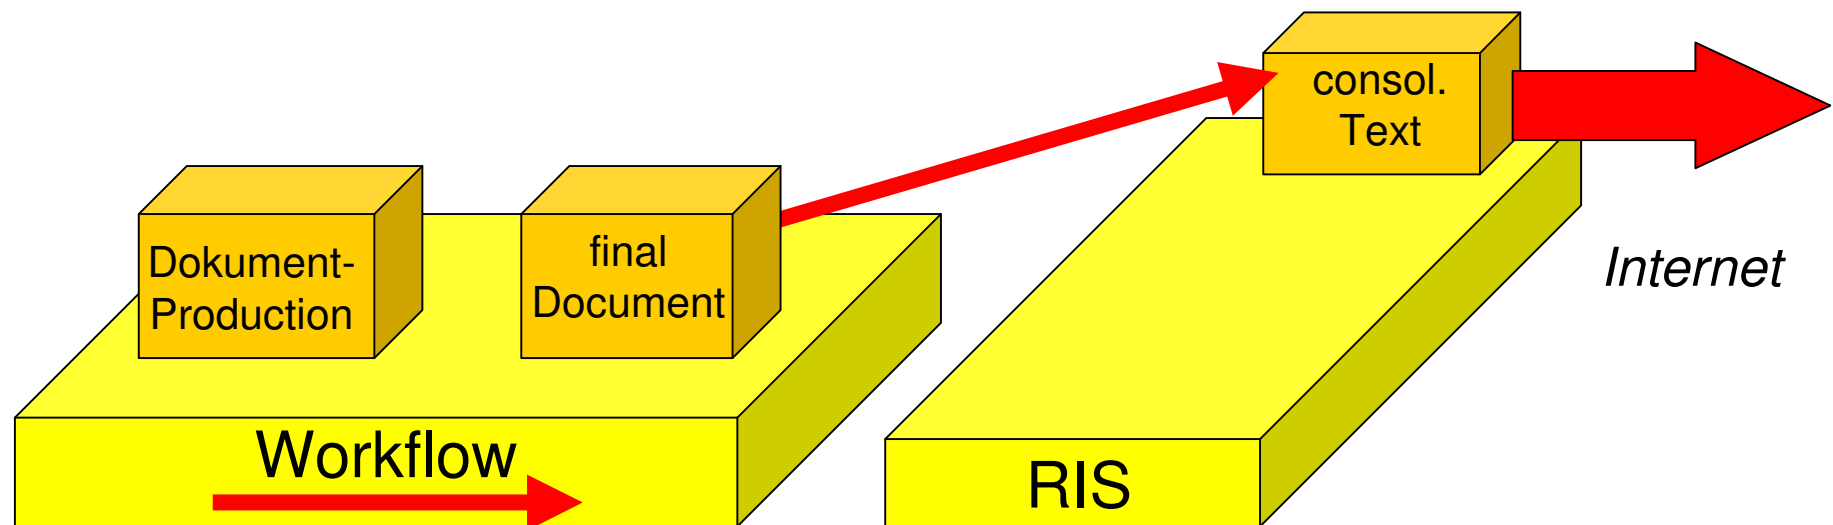

Integration in a production chain: workflow and storage / retrieval eRecht

eLaw

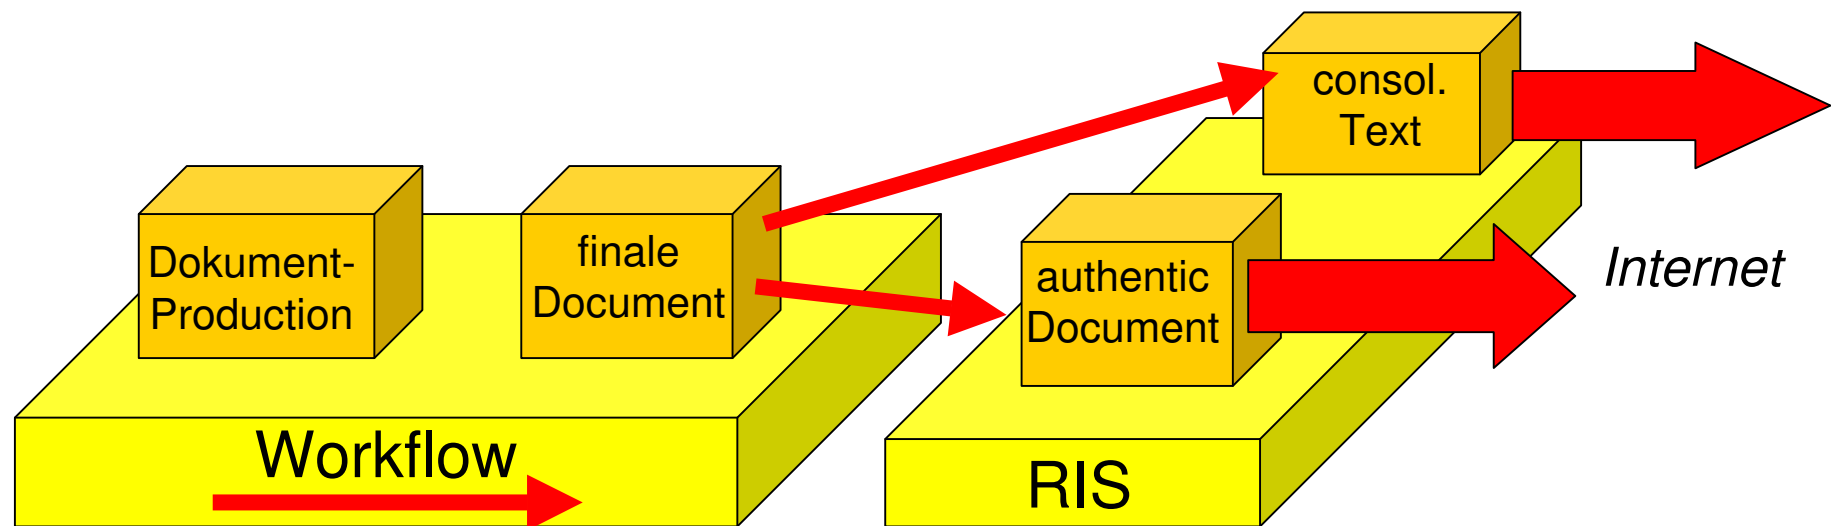

output of the Legislative Workflow = input to the database RIS

eRecht

eLaw

Promulgation via Inernet

authentic electronic publication

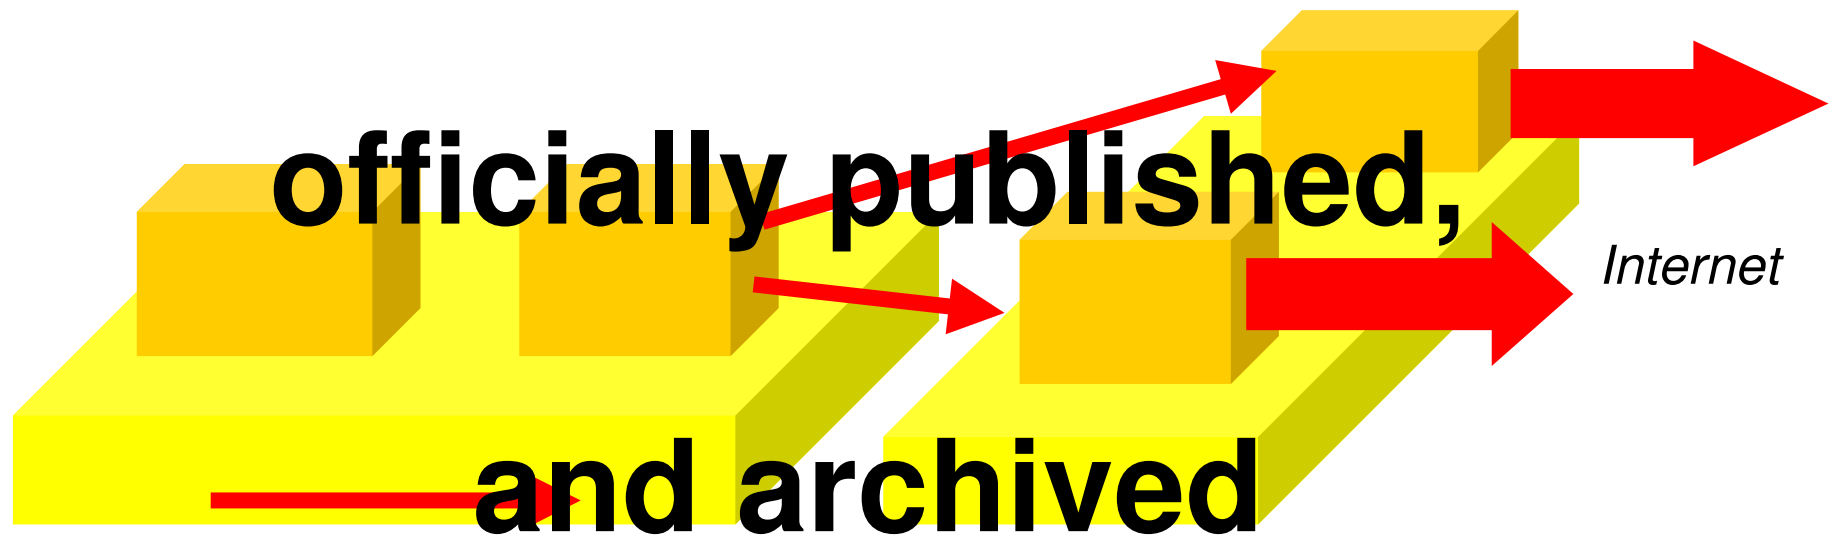

since 2004

Austria is the first country in the European Union to decide that the law is developed,

officially published,

and archived

Internet

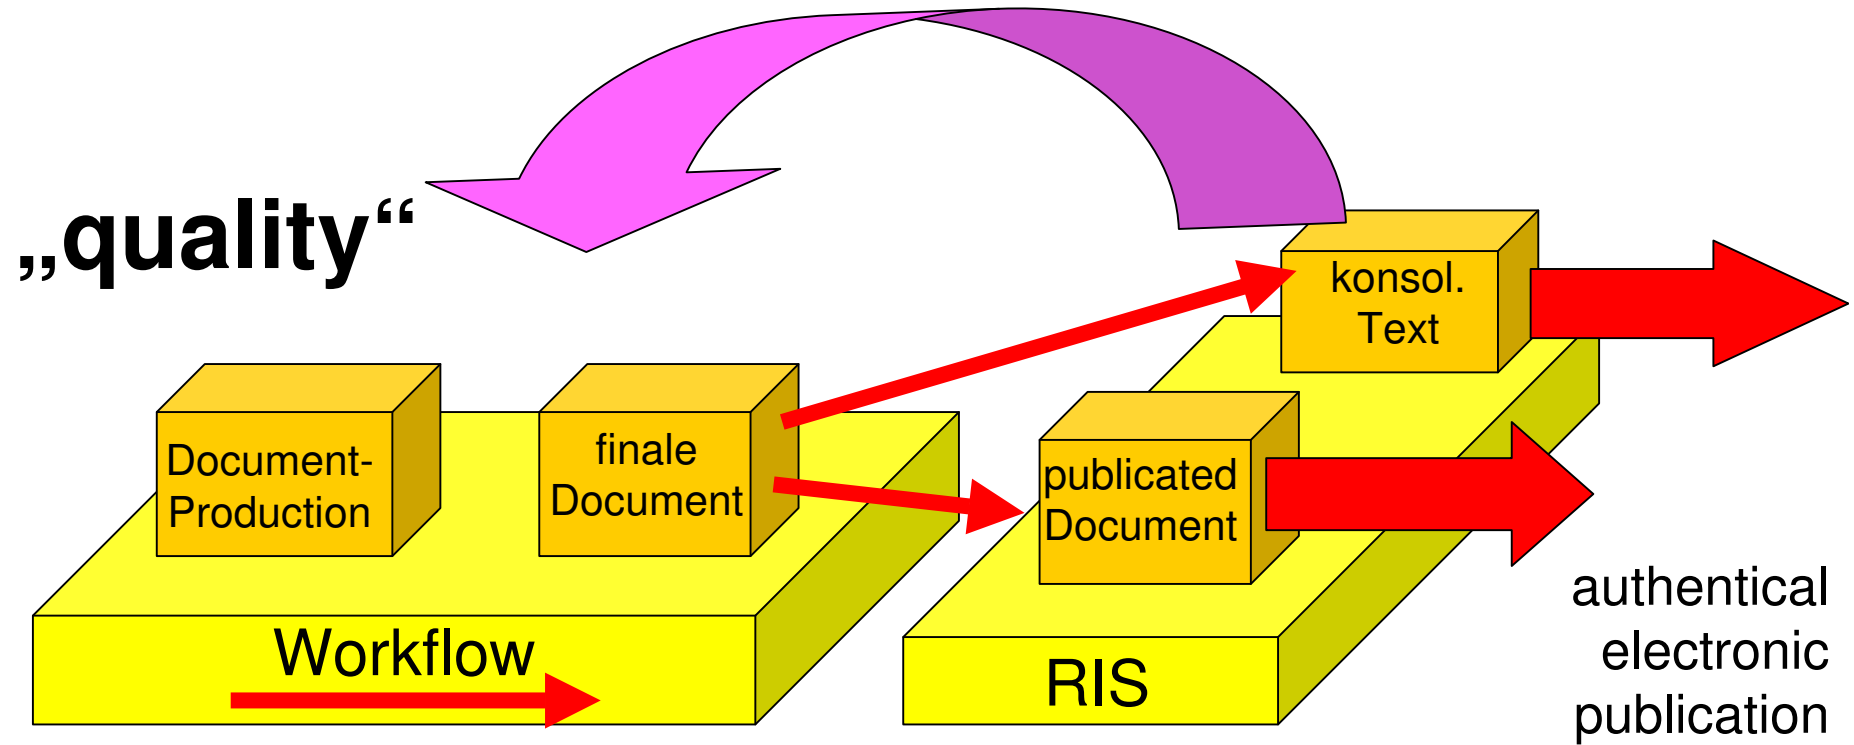

via digital means.

Therefore, BKA as the Austrian governmental body responsible for the publishing and archiving of law, identity management, right management, and workflow management.

ex ante rationality ← ex post rationality

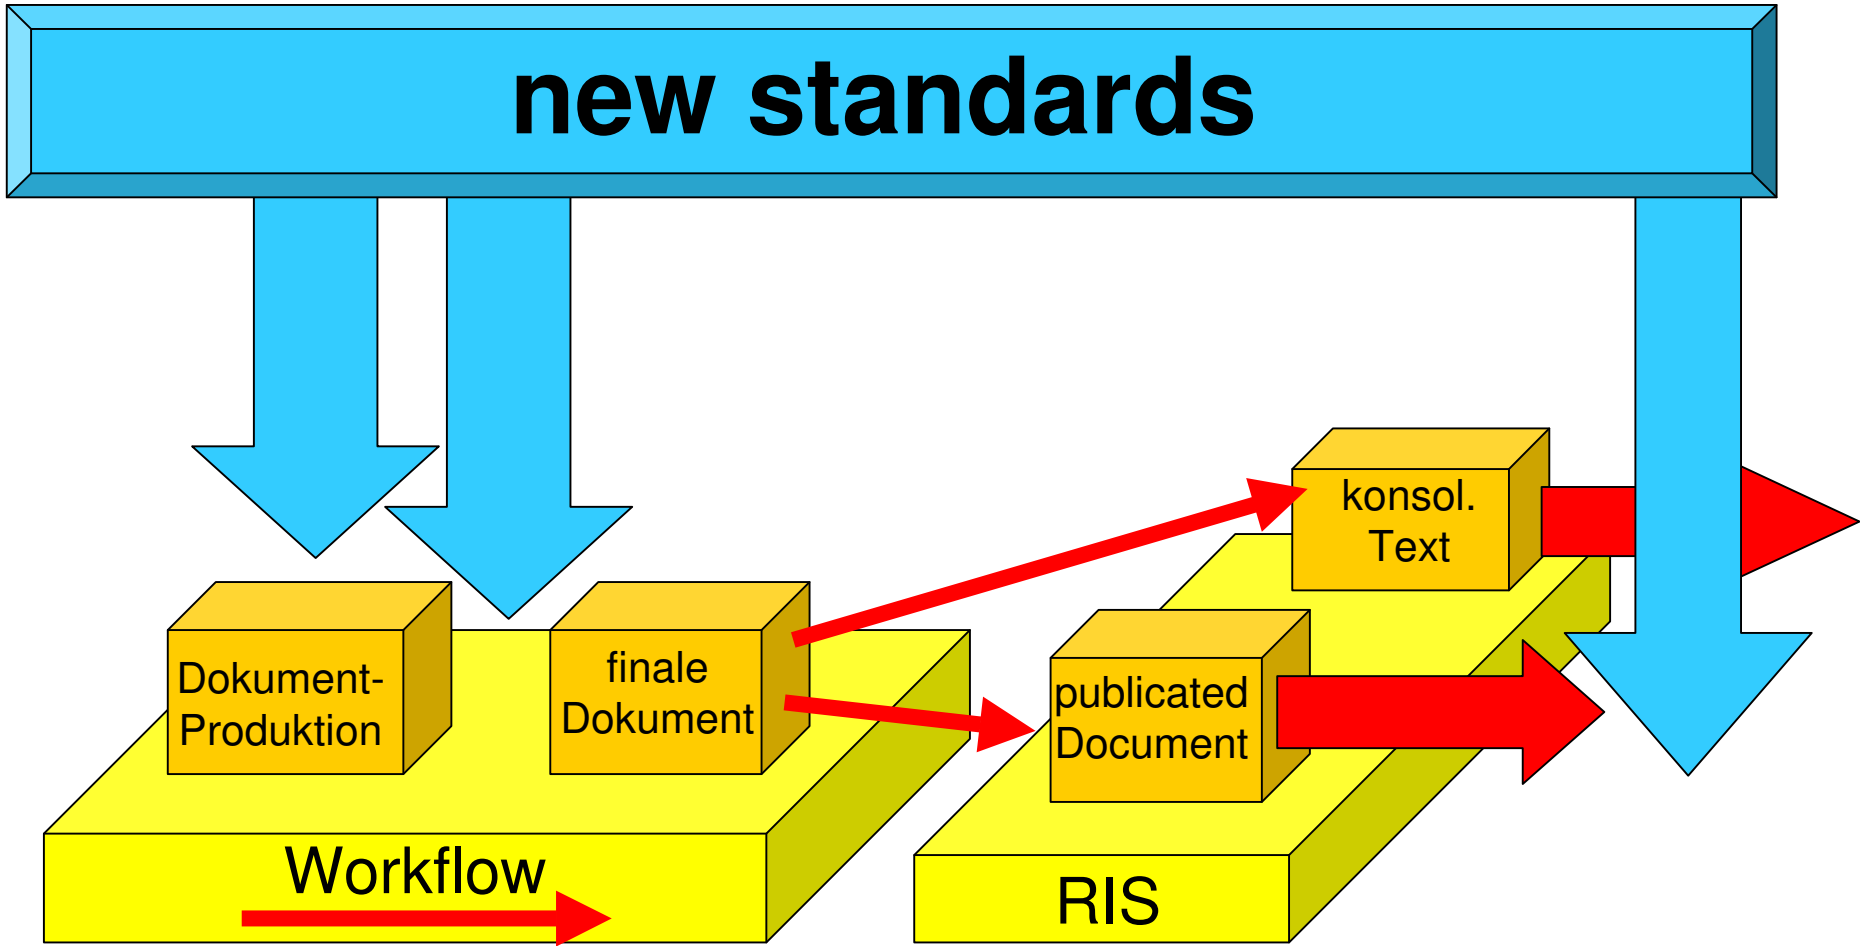

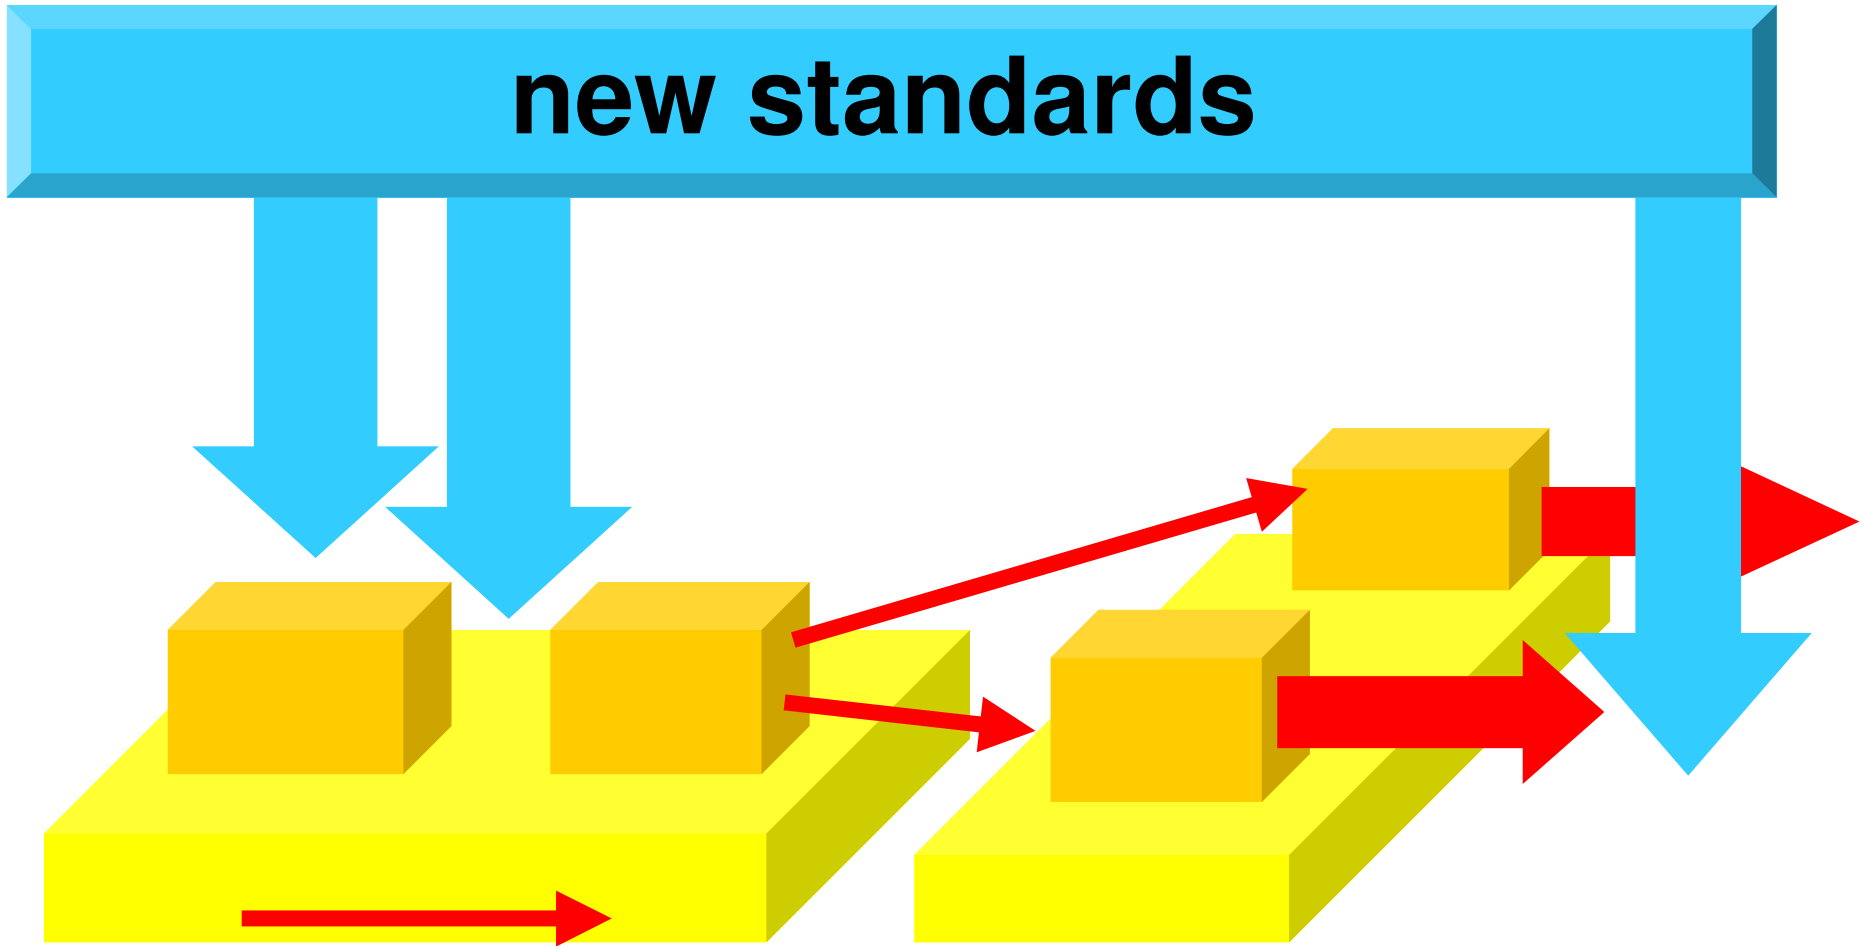

The traditional publication process requires proofreading at the end of the production process.

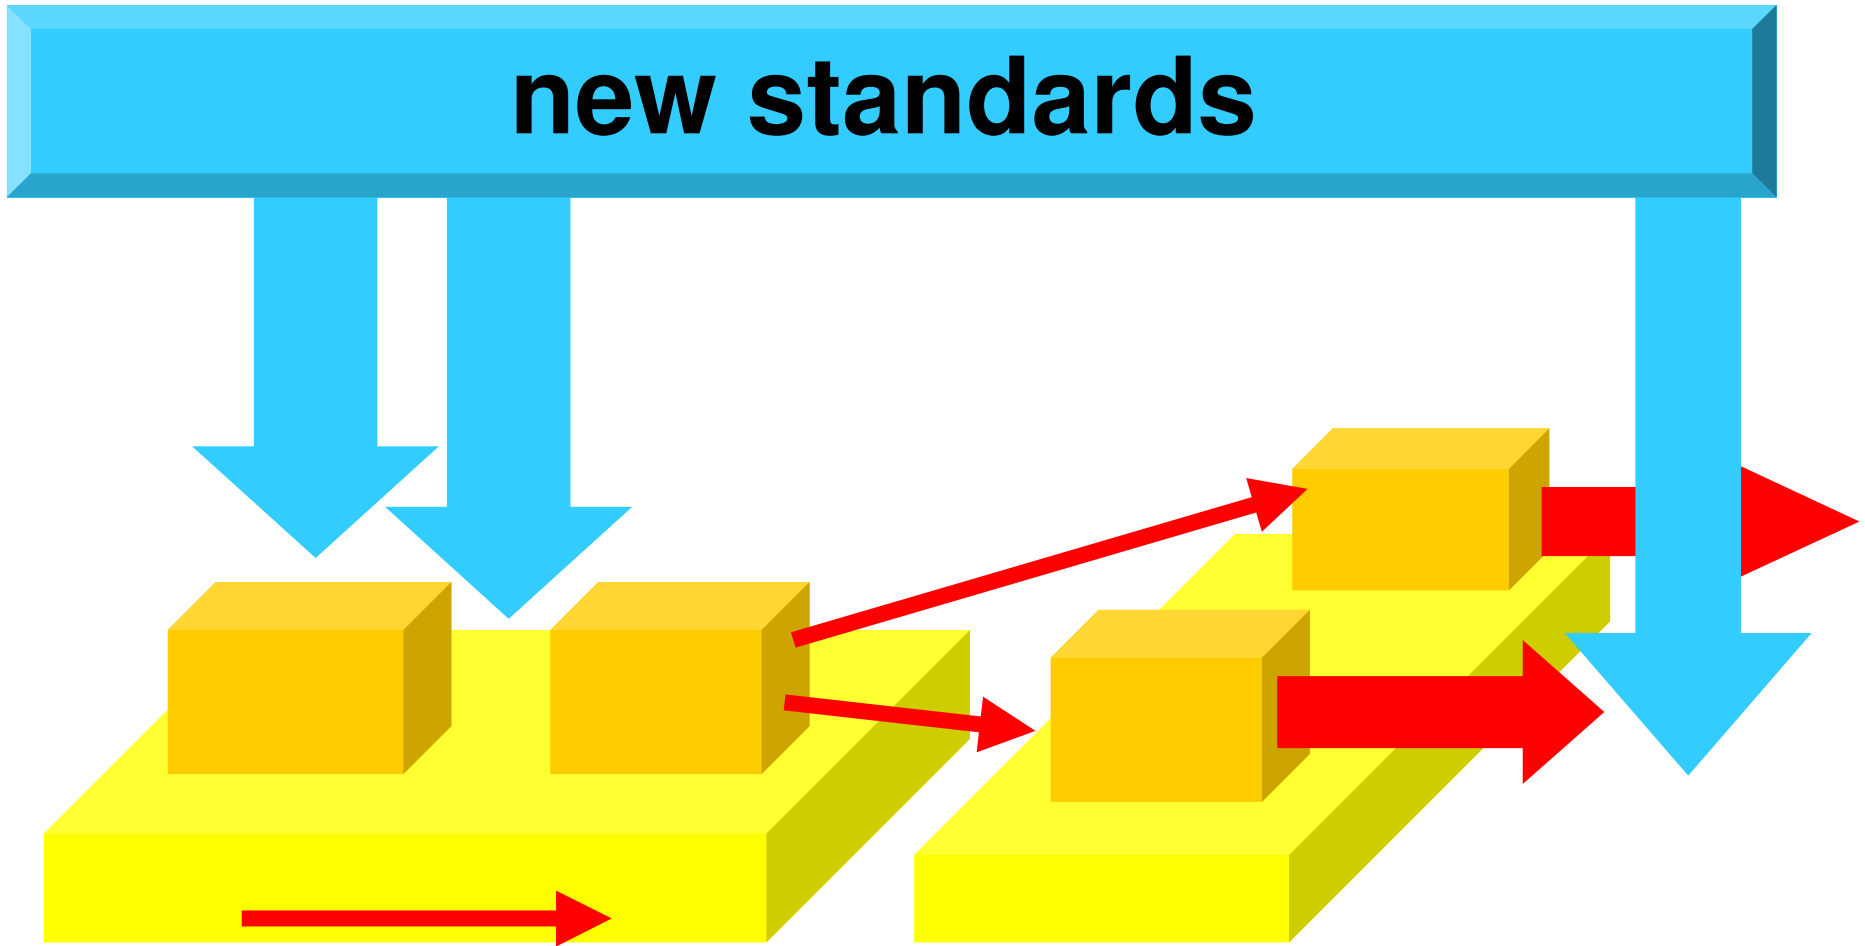

In contrast, workflow publication process enforces corrections at the point of origin.

In practice this principle is not applied to its maximum extent!

for production, transfer, consumption for security, authentication and authorisation

